TAR's K-9 division is built from ex-police and military trainers, officers with years of professional and operational experience. This is demonstrated best in our special capabilities in supplying & training dogs for the following missions:

1. Counter terror & attack
2. Explosive charges detection
3. Explosives and firearm detection
4. Drug detection
5. Search and rescue
6. Track and pursuit

TAR's specialty is in providing its customers a full package solution that includes the following elements:

- Operational dogs with or without handlers.
- Professional consulting & establishment of K9 units.
- Development and deployment of K9 teams for different security purposes.
- General equipment for the handler and special equipment for the K9.

All of our dogs must pass strict and tough qualification and suitability tests. Those which are found qualified, start our long & intensive training program emphasizing the specific task-oriented training. Only the best & the most qualified dogs which pass all training & meet all the requirements will become an official Tactical K9. Our highly experienced trainers make sure that our dogs are provided with the specific abilities & skills to best-perform, their task. Each dog is trained for a specific task according to client demand. Each ability has its own starting operation procedure which can be fit to client demand. we can also train the dogs for a new ability - by your demand.

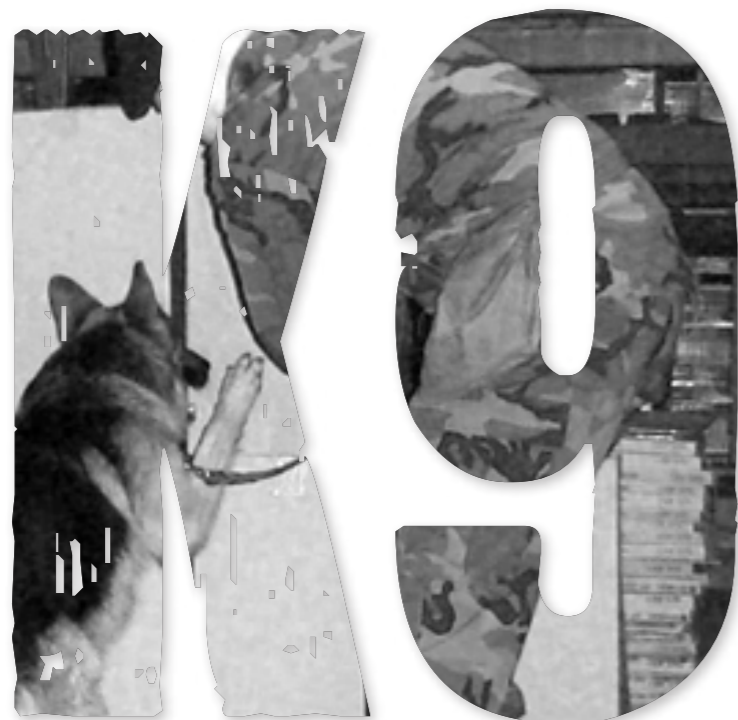

Attack Dogs

Our Attack Dogs are trained to work on different kind of terrain such as buildings, boats, busses, planes, etc. Some of them are dressed to attack any human being present in a searching area and other are trained to attack only the dominant persons (such as hostage taker, terrorist,...) in a group of people (following customer's request). Our dogs are also trained to mark people who are unreachable for them, and so, to protect their handler from any potential threat.

Explosives Detection Dogs

Our Explosives Detection Dogs are taught to indicate passive response to home-made, military and commercial explosives as well as residue. Our Explosive Detection Dogs are also capable of detecting varied quantities of explosive compounds as well as ammunition and firearms (including people who are carrying explosives) in different kind of environments such as busses, trains, plains, streets. The dogs are trained not to be aggressive to strangers and can act in other crowded areas such as train stations, airports. They can mark their founding in an active or a passive way (following the customer's request).

Explosive Charges Detection Dogs

Trained to detect explosive charges in different terrains such as roots, open fields, buildings or any other terrains. The dogs are dressed to work within a distance of 100 meters or more from their handler by vocal command or other special means, and, can mark the explosives following the client's request, in a passive way (sitting / lying) or in an active way (barking).

DRUGS DETECTION DOGS

Our Narcotic Detection Dogs are trained to actively seek out drugs in all environments. The dogs are trained to indicate the presence of drugs no matter the quantity and can detect substances such as Cocaine, Heroin, Marijuana, Hashish...

Our detection dogs are trained to search areas not accessible to the handlers or to human. Random searches by detection dogs is less intrusive than other testing alternatives. Areas taught to search include trains, buses, aircraft, cars, trucks or schools. The marking is usually active (scratching, barking ,retrieving) but can be passive.

Search & Rescue Dogs

Our Search and Rescue Dogs are trained to find alive missing people in forests, rubles, ruins, etc, by following scent which is carried on the air and to ignore all interferences in their working area such as scattered food, working rescuers, rescuing equipment.

This is a very efficient method of searching large areas quickly and does not require items of clothing or effects of the missing person. Dogs work equally well in the dark and use their senses of smell and hearing to their fullest under these conditions.

It is calculated that a dog is equivalent to about 20 searchers in good conditions and many more in poor conditions. In ideal conditions a dog can pick up a human scent from about 500 meters.

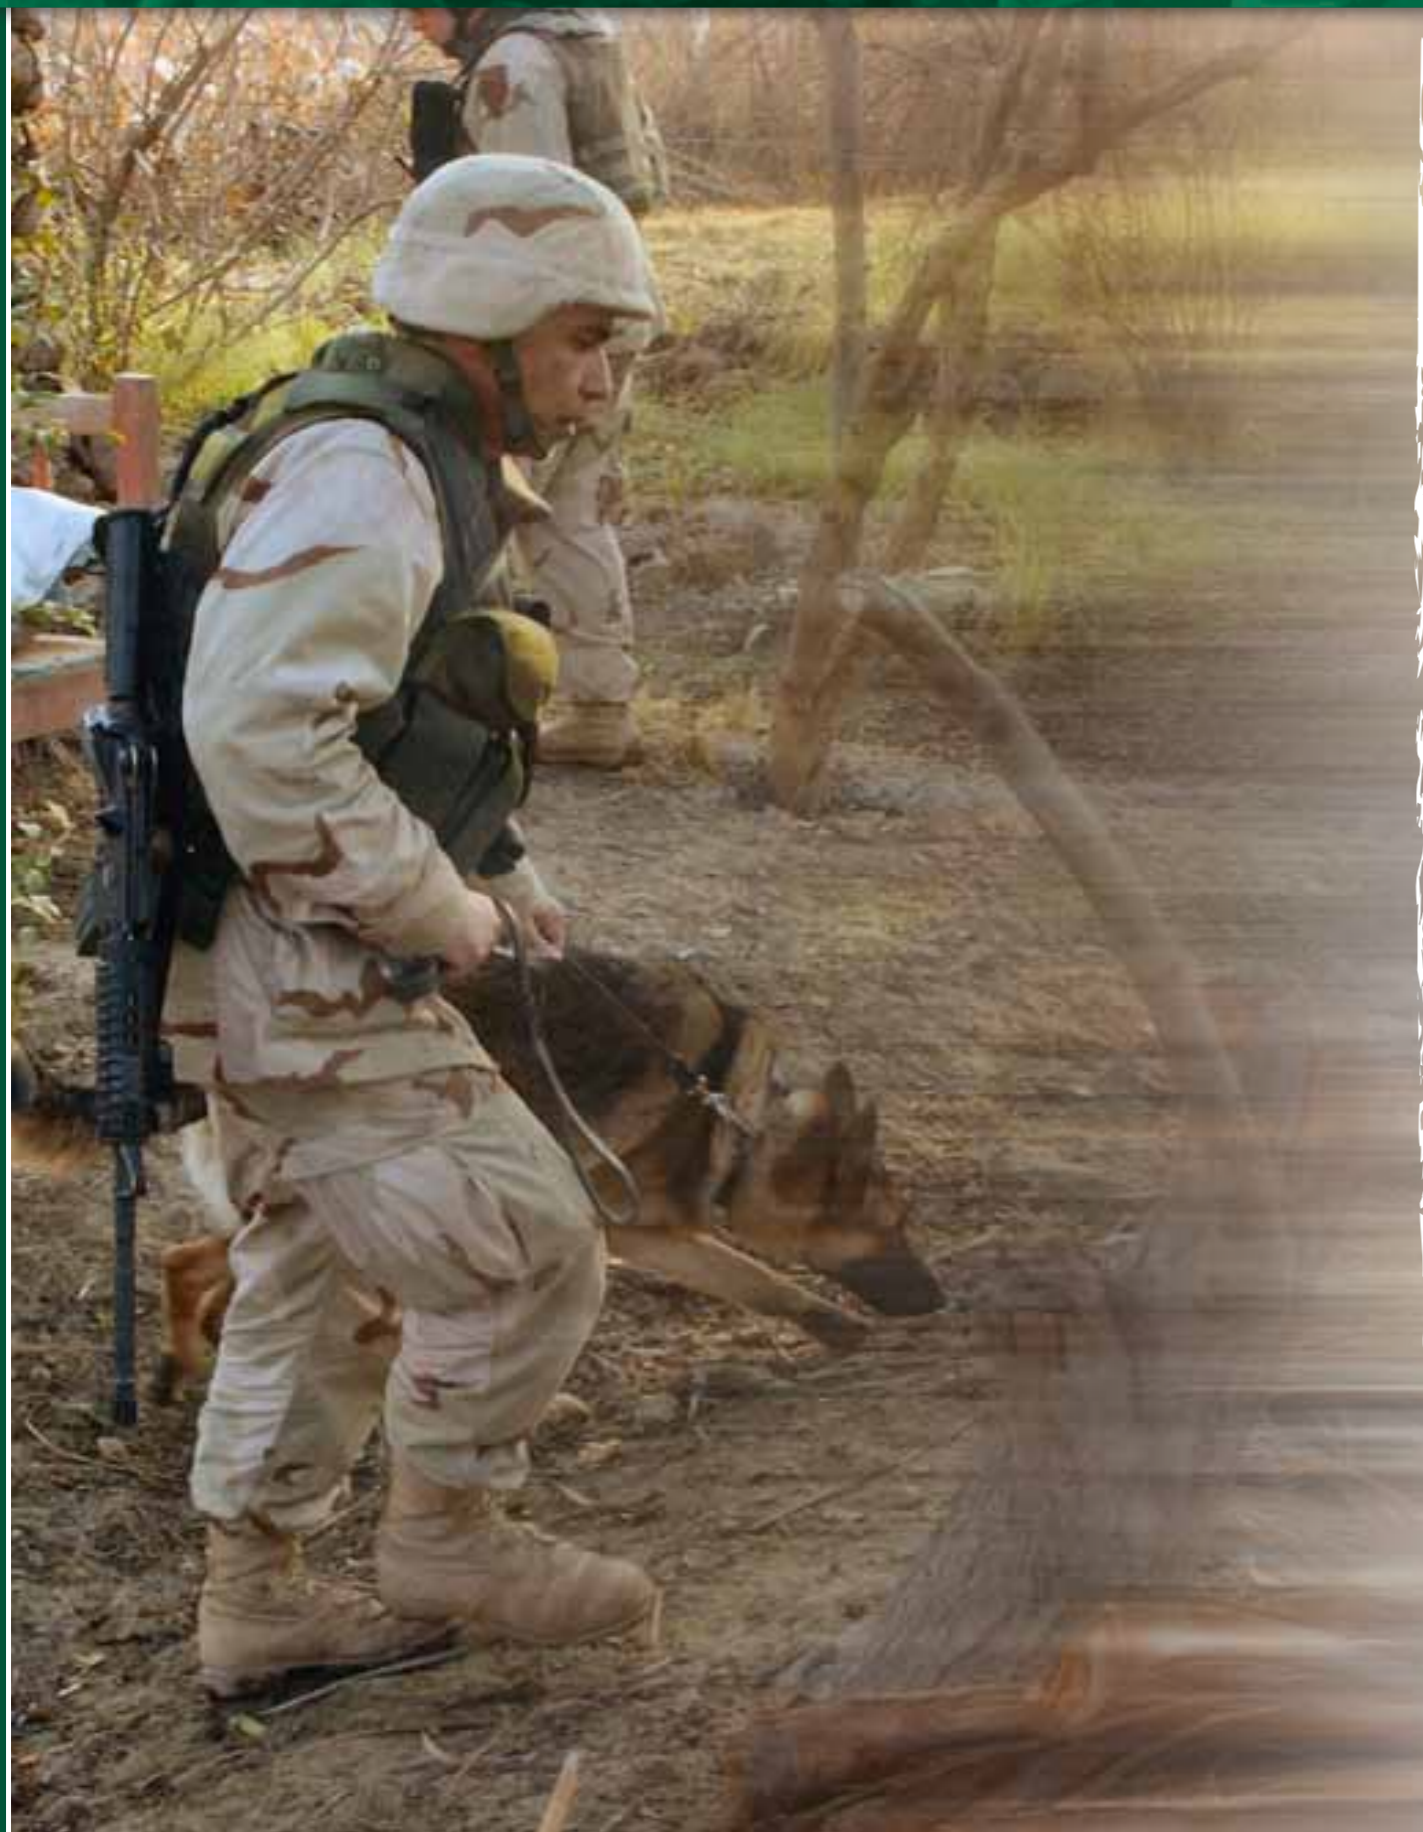

TRACK DOGS

A dog is “tracking” when he is following the scent trail or disturbed vegetation scent, left by a person (or other animal) that has traveled along a certain route. Following a track is one of the many useful things dogs can do to help people tracking lost children, suspects, lost items.

Our dogs are trained to track for several miles while passing through different types of terrains and several hours since the tracks were made and to locate any clues on the way to the tracked person.
